Education Background

Studying Sabbatical
July 2022 - Present

Choosing a sabbatical to refine my front-end development skills was a deliberate step, motivated by a genuine passion for web development and the desire to master HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and responsive design.

My background as a Communications Specialist has shown me the transferability of skills crucial for a front-end developer role. This decision represents my commitment to continuous learning and the merging of communication expertise with technical proficiency to create user-centric, innovative websites.
